The buyer says they received ground coffee even though they told their AI shopping assistant to buy only whole bean coffee, and they want a refund.

SHIPMENT
  shipment_tracking[0]: 9400111899223857216617 DELIVERED

AGENT MANDATE (bound to the order by SHA-256 ad10ede6a783f1e3decff88441cceff0f48ffdd6774c48e096e3e41e91cab671)
  Agent witness-reference-shopper · category coffee beans · cap $40.00 · valid until 2026-12-31 mandate.instructions[0]: Whole bean, never ground.
  mandate.instructions[1]: It's for my partner to drink in the evening, and caffeine keeps her up.
  [PASS] integrity: Mandate content matches the hash bound to the order.
  [PASS] amount: $16.00 is within the $40.00 cap.
  [PASS] merchant: Merchant is named in the mandate.
  [PASS] in_force: Accepted 2026-10-24T15:50:23Z via Witness acceptance page, then PayPal approval of order 5YS322825N0823412; in force at the purchase (2026-10-24T15:53:36Z).
  [PASS] paypal_approval: The buyer's own PayPal account approved the first payment from this mandate's acceptance page (order 5YS322825N0823412, 2026-10-24T15:50:23Z), which saved PayPal for the agent.

FINDINGS
  [ESTABLISHED] authorization: The purchase is inside the mandate that was in force when it was made. (sources: mandate_checks.integrity, mandate_checks.amount, mandate_checks.merchant, mandate_checks.in_force, mandate_checks.paypal_approval)
  [CONTRADICTED] instruction_compliance: The mandate says 'Whole bean, never ground.' The agent ordered 'Decaf, ground, 340 g', which breaks that instruction even though it fits the spending scope. The decaf choice is consistent with the second instruction about avoiding caffeine. (sources: mandate.instructions[0], mandate.instructions[1], order.description, dispute.items[0], mandate.scope, finding.authorization)
  [ESTABLISHED] listing_match: The ordered item is described as ground, and the buyer says the delivered bag is ground. What was delivered appears to match what was ordered and described. The problem lies in what the agent chose, not in the merchant's fulfilment. (sources: order.description, dispute.items[0], buyer_statements[0], shipment_tracking[0], finding.fulfilment)
  [ESTABLISHED] fulfilment: Shipment 9400111899223857216617 is recorded as delivered. (sources: shipment_tracking[0])

DECISION: REFUND (basis: merchant policy; policy: Witness test merchant (demo policy, set 2026-10-18))
  - Agent instruction violation, not a merchant fulfilment failure: The mandate says 'Whole bean, never ground.' The agent ordered 'Decaf, ground, 340 g', which breaks that instruction even though it fits the spending scope. The decaf choice is consistent with the second instruction about avoiding caffeine.
  - The merchant delivered as listed: The ordered item is described as ground, and the buyer says the delivered bag is ground. What was delivered appears to match what was ordered and described. The problem lies in what the agent chose, not in the merchant's fulfilment.
  - Merchant policy "Witness test merchant (demo policy, set 2026-10-18)" says: refund.
